Privacy Policy:

Privacy

GEBR. BRASSELER GmbH & Co. KG respects your personal privacy. We aim to provide the best possible service to our customers and effectively protect your personal data and interests. The term "data" comprises all information that allows or facilitates positive identification of an individual person. We always comply with the provisions of the data privacy law and other applicable regulations.

In line with Gebr. Brasseler GmbH & Co. KG's constant development, this data privacy declaration is subject to ongoing change. Please check regularly for amendments and new passages.

Your data

You can call up Gebr. Brasseler GmbH & Co. KG's normal websites without having to surrender any personal information about yourself. We only ask for and use personal information if this is absolutely necessary to answer your queries and to provide you with comprehensive information. When you visit our website, our web servers by default memorize the IP address of your internet service provider, the name of the website you are visiting us from, which of our websites you are viewing, as well as the time spent on our website and the date of your visit. Beyond that, personal data are only stored if you volunteer these, for example when you register, place an order or send an e-mail enquiry.

Furthermore, personal data are only stored if you enter them on your own initiative, for example as part of a registration, an order or an email enquiry etc.

To this end, you have to enter certain personal data such as your Christian and family name and your email address. The data you enter will only be used to process your enquiry or other request.

On the forms, the mandatory entries are marked with an *(asterisk). All other possible entries are optional.

The data are deleted as soon as the reason for the acquisition, processing and use of the data has lapsed, unless the data cannot be deleted due to statutory provisions to retain the data and to keep them for a mandatory period of time.

Social Networks

On our website, the plug-ins of the social networks are marked with the symbol of the corresponding service. If you select a link to an external social network on our website, the responsibility is passed on to the operator of that platform who is also responsible for the contents of the site that opens when it is called up.

Due to the connection to the server of the social network, the information that you accessed our website is passed on to the social network even if you were not actually logged on to the social network when you accessed our website.

This information (including the IP address) is transmitted directly to the operator of the platform and stored at the location of the operator.

For detailed information on privacy, the extent of data acquisition and the processing and use of data by the social network, please see the data protection policy of the operator.

If you are already logged on to the social network, the selection of the plug-in on our website will lead you directly to your profile. The information you enter will be published directly on your profile. To prevent the allocation to your profile, please log off before you visit our website.
